Snowy the Snowman

By Tyler Levine

Setting: Outside in the snow

Characters: Boy, Snowman, Mom - stacy

Goal: Play together

Conflict: Too cold or too hot

Theme: Good things don't always last

Narrator: One cold day a little boy built a snowman. The snowman magically came alive.

Snowy the Snowman: Hello, little boy!

Boy: Whaaaaat! My snowman just talked!

Snowy: I'm Snowy the Snowman.

Boy: I'm Ty. Nice to meet you. Brrrr! It is cold.

Snowy: I know. Isn't it great!?

Boy: I gggggguess so... (Shivers)

Narrator: Ty is VERY cold but he does not want to disappoint his new friend by going in the house.

Boy: I don't think I can move, Snowy!

Snowy: Are you cold?

Boy: No of course not.

Snowy: Ahhh this cold weather is great.

Boy: Actually, I think the opposite. Brrrrr...

Snowy: Let's play! You will warm up.

Boy: Good idea! Let's play tag.

Narrator: The boy and the snowman play tag sliding on the front lawn.

Mom: (yelling from the house) Luuuuuuuunchtime!

Boy: Okay, Mom. Coming!

Boy: Snowy, care for some hot chocolate? Snowy: Sure!

Boy: I'll be right back out with your hot chocolate after lunch.

Narrator: After lunch, Ty comes out with the hot chocolate.

Boy: Here you go!

Snowy: (sips the drink) Ohh! This is hot! I'm melting!

Boy: Oh no, what did I do?!?! I'll put some ice on you! I'll get it from the kitchen! Oh no! I spilled the ice. I have to clean this up.

Five minutes later....(*Snowman melts.)

Boy: Snowy!!!! NOOOOOOOOOO!

Snowy: It is okay, Ty. I'll see you next winter!

Boy: Bye.
